Ever wondered how long you can use Windows 10 without a product key or activation? A simple answer is that you can use it forever, but in the long term, some of the features will be disabled.. Gone are those days when Microsoft forced consumers to buy a license and kept rebooting the computer every two hours if they ran out of grace period for activation.. As soon as you upgrade your system, Microsoft automatically activates your Windows 10 copy in the background, assuming that you've upgraded from genuine Windows 7 or 8 versions.. Windows 10 has been out for a little over a week now, and a good portion of Windows users have already utilized their free Windows 10 upgrade.
